1. Division: Property economics & publications

(Division head: Kobus Lamprecht BCom (NWU), BComHons (NWU) MCom (NWU))

Rode's property economics department produces four research journals. In order to do this, it surveys the South African and Namibian (Windhoek only) property markets every quarter, using the expert-panel method of polling. The department then interprets the data and publishes its findings. One of these publications — Rode's SA Property Trends — contains a 6-year forecast of the market, using Rode's unique econometric forecasting models, the results of which are updated every six months.

The best-known publication is Rode's Report on the SA Property Market. It is published quarterly and describes the state of the property market. It is an authoritative reference source for valuers, estate agents, property portfolio and fund managers.

There are hundreds of subscribers to the journals.

Database of property time series. The quarterly surveys date back to end 1987, and Rode now updates about 5 500 unique property time series every quarter. Subscribers to the database are professional researchers.

4. Division: Rode Valuations

(Headed by Mrs M Tighy BSc (Wits) Hons (OR) (RAU), MBL (SA), Pr Sci Nat)

For practitioners in the property industry, the 30-year old firm 'Rode' is synonymous with Rode's Report, property statistics, consultancy and property economics. However, under the radar this firm has over the past two decades grown to become one of the 'big five' valuation companies in the country.

The competitive advantage of the firm as valuers is that it combines rigorous research and an extensive database to create new techniques in the field of value estimation – to the benefit of the wider industry.

Clients – past and present – include listed funds, life offices, pension funds, local and national government departments, parastatals, law firms and all the major banks.

The Rode Valuation team has valued various landmark properties around South Africa, including trophy farms.

Owing to its reputation, the result of tackling problems with academic rigour whilst remaining practical, the Rode team is often approached when it comes to controversial valuations.

They are especially well-known for their prowess at valuing shopping centres. For every shopping centre they value, Rode compiles a mathematical equation using the statistical technique of regression, which allows them to estimate the market rental of a shop based on its rentable area. This tool largely eliminates the need for fallible human judgment, and is also often used by their clients in motivating asking rentals for new tenants or for lease renewals.

The firm has empirically demonstrated that market-rental rates are amazingly successful in explaining the level of capitalization rates. On reflection, though, this should not be all that surprising, considering that all the good and bad news pertaining to a property are encapsulated in the ruling market-rental rate. Given this relationship, it has developed a statistical equation, updated every quarter in its flagship Rode's Report, which allows one to estimate a property's capitalization rate by means of its market rental rate.

Rode has done pioneering work in the field of property valuation. Some of its firsts in South Africa include:

- ❑ The development of regression models to estimate the capitalisation rates of office properties, industrial properties and shopping centres.
- ❑ The application of multiple regression techniques to value houses in SA (as early as 1988).
- ❑ In 1996, Rode's founder, Erwin Rode, developed Rode's Valuation Method — also known as the OCF (opportunity cash flow) Method. This method has been conceptualised to value income-producing properties.

The valuations division of Rode & Associates has been recognised for its top quality performance by receiving top awards from the authoritative publication Professional Management Review (PMR.africa) for the past five years. The company has recently received the following awards:

- Diamond Arrow Award: Retail Valuations, Commercial & Industrial Valuations, Residential Valuations
(Rode was rated the highest in each of the above four categories)
- Golden Arrow Award: Municipal Valuations, Specialised Valuations Agricultural Valuations

General Valuation (GV) rolls (municipalities)

The Rode Group of companies is responsible for about 50% of the valuation rolls of the Western Cape.

Farm valuations

To meet the needs of the agricultural property market, Rode & Associates has an agricultural valuation department. This department has at its disposal the services of a full-time valuer who specialises in the valuation of farms and smallholdings, and who understands the value-drivers within the agricultural sector.

Transformation plan

Rode is very supportive of transformation in the property industry. Some of the things we are doing:

- We took on four black interns (three female, one male) in Property Valuation from the Cape Peninsula University of Technology (CPUT) in 2017, 2018 and 2019 in order for the students to complete the practical side of their degree.
- We had strong relations with a qualified black female valuer in Gauteng who we appointed as an Independent Contractor since January 2017. Unfortunately for us, she has now accepted a full-time position with Investec in Johannesburg and can no longer act in her capacity as an Independent Contractor. We are looking to strengthen relations with other suitable candidates in Gauteng.
- We have on staff a colleague who teaches property valuation at the Cape Peninsula University of Technology. This is primarily to a non-white demographic.

- For most tenders we submit, we state that we will employ black candidate valuers to assist in completing the work.

I trust the above will satisfy you in our desire to promote transformation in the property sector.

Our future plans are to build relationships with more suitable black valuers to further promote equality in the valuation profession.
